IMPACT

Your first year isn't about knowing everything.
It's about discovering what you can become.

Four years. Four missions.

The goal isn't to be ready today. It's to become ready over time.

Prompt Engineering

Better Prompts, Better Results

A small change in your prompt → A bigger difference in your results

❌ Weak Prompt

"Explain AI."

- ❌ Vague and too short
- ❌ No context
- ❌ Generic answer
- ❌ Not helpful
- ❌ Doesn't match your need

Result:

A basic, generic answer that anyone could get.

✅ Powerful Prompt

"You are a friendly teacher. Explain Artificial Intelligence to a first-year engineering student in simple words, give real-life examples, key applications, and a quick summary in bullet points."

- ✅ Clear role (teacher)
- ✅ Specific task (explain)
- ✅ Right context (first-year student)
- ✅ Desired format (bullet points)
- ✅ Useful and actionable output

Result:

A clear, structured, easy-to-understand and useful answer.

FORMAT

+

CONSTRAINT

1

ROLE

Who should AI be?

Assign a role to get more relevant and expert-like responses.

Example:

"You are a friendly teacher..."

2

TASK

What do you want it to do?

Clearly state the task or action you want the AI to perform.

Example:

"Explain..."
"Summarize..."
"Create..."

3

CONTEXT

What additional information is needed?

Provide background details, audience, goals or domain.

Example:

"I am a first-year engineering student..."
"The topic is..."
"My goal is..."

4

FORMAT

In what format do you want the output?

Specify the structure like bullet points, table, steps, code, etc.

Example:

"In bullet points..."
"In a table..."
"In simple words..."
"With examples..."

5

CONSTRAINT

Any specific limits or rules?

Add requirements like length, tone, level, or what to avoid.

Example:

"Keep it under 200 words..."
"Use only reliable sources..."
"Avoid technical jargon..."
"Make it student-friendly..."

Full Example Prompt:

"You are a friendly teacher. Explain Artificial Intelligence to a first-year engineering student in simple words, with real-life examples, in bullet points. Keep it under 200 words and make it easy to understand."
